

I recently purchased a satellite radio system because I felt that the local radio stations, primarily owned by two huge companies, were no longer meeting my needs. I see no reason why I shouldn't be able to get reliable weather and traffic information along with a larger variety of entertainment options from satellite radio. The air waves are owned by the tax payers of America, not the large entertainment conglomerates, and as such, I'd expect that consumers should be given the widest access to options available. Limiting weather and traffic to only a couple of companies severely limits these options.

Thank you.
